

Figure 2: The potential removal of PCBs by the cod fishery in the Baltic Sea, assuming all cod livers are retained in fishing ports and not returned to the sea as fish offal. The different symbols indicate removal rates based on concentrations of PCB measured by different workers. See MacKenzie et al. (2004) for references.