Travel Funding Available for U.S. Participants for ICES 2022 Annual Science Conference at the Aviva Stadium in Dublin, Ireland

Requests for travel funds by Early Career US Academic Scientists are due by June 24, 2022

The International Council for the Exploration of the Sea (ICES) is a leading forum for the promotion, coordination, and dissemination of research on physical, chemical, and biological systems in the North Atlantic and adjacent seas. ICES promotes the science of discovery in the marine realm. In addition, it provides advice on human impacts on marine ecosystems, including effects of fishing, but with strong emphasis on broader areas of concern in evolving ecosystem-based management. Information on ICES, its goals and activities is available at: <https://www.ices.dk>. U.S. Delegates to ICES Dr. Jon Hare (NOAA, Northeast Fisheries Science Center, jon.hare@noaa.gov) and Dr. Bill Karp (School of Aquatic and Fishery Sciences, University of Washington; bkarp@uw.edu) can provide further information about ICES and its activities.

How to Apply

Funding for travel to the ICES Annual Science Conference (ASC), from an NSF grant to Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution (WHOI) and the University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science (UMCES), is available to support participation by graduate students and Early Career Scientists from U.S. academic institutions. Preference will be given to first-time ICES participants who are within seven years of receipt of their Ph.D. Applicants should email a copy of their accepted abstract for one or more of the 2022 ICES theme sessions; a short statement of reasons for attending ASC; and a brief biographical sketch or CV to WHOI MPC Administrator, Alison Maksym (amaksym@whoi.edu) by June 24th. Decisions on awards will be sent out by email before July 26, 2022.

NOTE: In order to qualify for full reimbursement of your ASC registration fee, you must register by the Early Bird deadline of August 1, 2022.
